Metal-based Manufacturing

Business for Sale Description

Production Engineering Business for Sale
Auckland

Here is an excellent opportunity for a trade-based buyer or an individual investor to invest in a long-standing and successful NZ manufacturing business, which has produced consistent results and profitability over a 40-year period, now for sale outright, and offering an excellent investment opportunity and a great return on investment.

The business manufactures and assembles metal-based products for well-established NZ-based customers. The business has a great reputation for quality and delivery to customers on time and offers a full spectrum of engineering and manufacturing capabilities delivering an end-to-end service for its customers, from design and manufacture to delivery.

The business is run day to day by a working owner involved approx. 30 hours per week, half of this involvement is on-site, and the other half is performed from a home office remotely and assisted by a Factory Manager.

The business has skilled long-standing staff and supervisors and has re-invested into plant & machinery as well as investment in customer acquisition. It offers growth potential for a new owner who may add a sales and marketing layer to grow the business's revenue further within or beyond the existing customer databases.
