A Growing Opportunity

On offer is a specialist nursery based close to Westport, on the West Coast of the South Island, New Zealand.

The nursery grows NZ native ferns ranging from tree ferns (pungas) to ground ferns. The quality of the stock is outstanding.

While there is an opportunity to relocate the nursery, if that was a buyer's preference, it should be noted that the climate in the current area is particularly favourable for growing ferns. The nursery has tunnel houses and shade house structures on a 2ha (5 acre) property with a State Highway frontage.

The nursery, which has been operating for over 20 years, sells ferns on a wholesale basis to the garden industry (through garden centres etc. throughout NZ), and has a number of potential areas for growth.

Here is an opportunity for an established nursery operator or a new entrant to buy an exciting lifestyle business with a great future. This opportunity has only arisen due to the passing of the founder of the business after having established this successful business.
