

Sales & Installation Business for Sale Queenstown

Queenstown & Wanaka Dealership; Popular Product; Growing Market

Business opportunity:

This is a well-established and quality business model, offering a product to both the new build and renovation market. Leads are generated within the territory and dealer website and by the product manufacturer via their website. The dealer organises a site visit and does a measure up, with a quote to follow. Once the quote is accepted a deposit is paid, the product is ordered from the manufacturer and the installation is completed.

The current owner both sells and installs, albeit a new owner seeking growth could potentially outsource the installs to devote more time to selling.

Business Strengths:

- Strong growth and profitability since inception
- A good understanding of the “measure & quote’ environment is essential
- Simple and effective business model
- Design & product specification run nationally by head office
- Currently one man band – work your own hours
- No licensing fees

Business Resources

The Buyer:

While it is not necessary to be a licensed builder to install this product, it is definitely something that requires knowledge of the building industry and competence with a variety of tools/power tools including a certain finesse to the work. It is suggested that a skill level of more than a typical handyman is required for installations. This business would suit:

- An construction-experienced individual happy to carry out the sales and quoting work, and completing their own installations (perhaps a builder wanting to lighten their load)
- A ‘team’ (i.e. couple, siblings etc.) where perhaps one is a builder and the other works on sales/quoting, with a view to growing the business
