Headwear for Cancer Patients - Ministry of Health approved headwear provider

Head High's mission is to make life a little easier for those suffering hair loss from cancer or alopecia by providing comfortable, practical and attractive head coverings. Created by a cancer survivor, this unique venture has grown exponentially since 2010.

The business is based in Auckland but easily operated online and from home, with the current owners putting in just three days per week. Head High has a strong NZ-wide customer base for its wide range of products as an approved provider with the Ministry of Health. Profitable and packed with potential for expansion, it represents a fantastic opportunity.
