

Industrial Manufacturing Business for Sale Hawkes Bay

Legacy Engineering EV Future

Here's an exceptional opportunity to acquire a long-standing and highly profitable engineering business in Hawke's Bay. With 20+ years of proven performance, this operation combines traditional engineering expertise with a forward-facing approach - including a strong, growing presence in the electric vehicle (EV) sector.

This is not a dated operation resting on its history. While the business enjoys decades of goodwill and a respected reputation, its involvement in the EV space adds a modern, high-growth arm to an already well-diversified operation. The EV contracts are ongoing, highly lucrative, and position the business for sustained relevance in a rapidly expanding industry.

Key Highlights:

- * Diverse Capability: Services include stainless steel, mild steel and aluminium fabrication, CNC and manual machining, CNC profile cutting, certified structural welding, sheet metal work, plate folding, and 3D CAD design.
- * EV Industry Integration: A significant and expanding revenue stream comes from specialised engineering work in the electric vehicle industry - this is a key growth area with long-term upside.
- * Strong Financials: This is a consistent year-on-year performer with high turnover and solid net profit - ideal for an owner seeking both income and operational stability.
- * Experienced Team: Skilled, long-serving staff are in place to ensure smooth day-to-day operations and delivery of high-quality work.
- * Reputation & Relationships: Decades of trading have established the business as a trusted partner to a wide client base, including high-profile and repeat customers.
- * Flexible Ownership: The business is currently managed and offers the new owner flexibility to remain hands-off or step in more directly to explore further growth.

Bottom Line:

This is a robust, future-ready engineering business with both legacy strength and modern relevance. The EV component is just one of several high-value arms in the operation - and it's growing. Whether you're a hands-on operator or an investor seeking a managed, profitable enterprise, this opportunity demands attention.
