Engineering Biz - Make an Offer

Looking to secure a legacy engineering business? This Auckland-based business could be your perfect fit.

Established in 1999, this steel fabrication and general engineering business has earned a standout reputation. With over two decades of success, this business serves both residential and commercial clients, offering structural steel fabrication, sheet metal work, welding, and more. Its central location in a key industrial area, just minutes from key transport routes, enhances its operational reach and client convenience.

From bespoke staircases to large-scale industrial fit-outs, the business operates from a fully equipped facility tailored for productivity. The business has cultivated long-standing client relationships with major industry names. This operation is backed by repeat business, referrals, and high barriers to entry that protect its market position.

Key Highlights:

- * Established 25+ year history with a strong regional reputation
- * Prime industrial location with excellent access
- * Fully equipped workshop with CNC press brake, guillotine, welding gear & more
- * Skilled and self-sufficient team in place
- * Diversified service offering: fabrication, welding, folding, shearing, and architectural steel work
- * Consistent referrals and long-term client base

The business is currently run by two hands-on owners (husband and wife), who manage both the technical and administrative functions. They're supported by two versatile, certified staff. Whether you're a skilled tradesperson, engineer, or strategic buyer, this business is ready for immediate operation and growth.

The current owners purchased the business last year but have since over committed. They're now seeking an urgent exit and will consider all offers - make yours today!
