Installation of Insulation in Homes. Tauranga

As the headline suggests this business specialises in the supply and installation of insulation material in houses and commercial buildings.

The business was established in 1960 and has a long and successful history. It is known industry-wide for its excellence in insulation services, workmanship and reliability and has carved out a niche within the building sector. Specialising mainly in new home insulation, the business provides comprehensive services including roof, wall, and under-floor insulation installations.

Potential buyers should consider the following:

- * The business mainly operates in the thriving city of Tauranga, and benefits from the burgeoning housing and development scene.
- * The business has a solid, loyal, and diverse customer base.
- * The client base includes major developers and builders.
- * The business is a consistent performer.
- * Growth opportunities exist targeting existing houses and renovations and a new owner can capitalize on that.

This is only the second time that the business is on the market in its 65-year history - a testimony to its success! It is expected to be in demand, so don't delay with your enquiry. Contact Nols today.
