A knock for hunting out cheap flights has inspired a service that will help Kiwi travellers snap up the lowest airfares.

Russell Paver is currently trialling NZ Flight Club, an email newsletter that will alert members to airlines' undescribed discounts and mistake airfares, with savings of up to 90 per cent promised.

The service is not a booking platform, instead links to the deals will be provided so members can book direct with the airline.

Ready to Launch SAAS Flight Deal Buisness - 3300+ Early subscribers, Huge Growth Potential.

A ready-to-launch flight-deal subscription built for New Zealand traveler's with free and paid subscription models.

Subscribers receive access to the hidden flight deals that airlines don't tell you about saving 30-90% from the average fare price. Premium users can set their home airport, destinations, frequency etc to suit their needs.

The professionally built software interacts with industry leading API's for which I have negotiated access and affiliate rewards. The business is ready to launch but due to other business commitments has been postponed, NZ Flight club secured 3,300+ opted-in early subscribers and press interest with little to no marketing/advertising, showing a clear demand for the product.

Huge growth opportunity, could easily be fully automated and expanded into other markets (Australia etc). Great potential to create a small lifestyle buisness, add onto an existing business or grow into a large business.
