

Allied Health Business for Sale Bay of Plenty

Work From Home Allied Health Business Earning $200K from $615K Investment

Allied Health is a growing sector, and this business offers a significant return for an investor or allied health operator, generating EBITDA of $200,000/year by working only 10 - 15 hours a week.

The business has contracted revenue from a fast growing sector and provides on-site services to clients throughout the Bay of Plenty and Waikato region. Practitioners visit patients on a regular basis, meeting a recurring need for this allied health service.

Two employees and a contracted practitioner provide a high level of qualified service to patients in aged care facilities and patients within their own home.

The business model would be easily replicated in other regions in New Zealand or in Australia, with the founder willing to provide assistance on a contracted basis to exploit this potential growth opportunity.
