

Easy E-Commerce drop shipping business established 20 years Work 1 day per week and run from anywhere.

Well regarded New Zealand Drop Ship business operating successfully since 2006, selling computer peripherals and associated electronic products to the general public. Sales are almost all in New Zealand although exports are possible.

The business sells 4,600 products, has had 33,000 total orders and has a customer base exceeding 15,000 accounts.

Its fully online and day-to-day activity can easily be managed by one person working approximately 5-10 hours per week, at times that are completely flexible.

The potential buyer should be a competent computer user and have good familiarity with computer hardware and associated technology. There is no cold calling involved and almost all communications are handled by email.

The business has great growth potential as it has not been effectively marketed for years. The retiring owner has not been in a position to drive sales effectively (for reasons that will be made clear upon application.)

Business Resources

Online operations are automated and can be managed by one person from anywhere. No stock, no fixed hours, no specialised hardware, no leases, no premises.

The website has been custom built using PHP, XML and XSLT templates and uses a PostGRE backend database. It uses a CentOS 7 Linux distribution on a hosted VPS. None of this matters in day to day operations, but the potential buyer needs access to competence in these specialisations for ongoing support and site maintenance.

Operations are well documented and owner will give all training, assist with transfer and provide ongoing support for 3 months
