

Kitchen Studio Franchise for Sale NZ Wide

Own a proven, design-led kitchen franchise with national support, strong brand recognition, exclusive territories, and full training for success.

Kitchen Studio franchise territories are now available in selected regions across New Zealand, creating a rare opportunity to build a locally owned business under one of New Zealand's most trusted kitchen brands.

This opportunity will appeal to design-minded people, experienced owner-operators, couples or business partners who want to combine local ownership with the backing of a proven national franchise system.

Kitchen Studio has more than 40 years in business and over 50,000 kitchens installed nationwide. The brand is design-led, showroom-based and focused on helping customers create one of the most important spaces in their home. It is a business built around inspiration, consultation, trust and end-to-end customer care.

Business Resources

Unlike a conventional retail business, Kitchen Studio is about guiding customers through a significant and often emotional home investment. Franchisees lead a local showroom, build relationships in their community, and help customers move from early ideas through to a completed kitchen they can enjoy every day.

The model may particularly suit people with experience or interest in design, interiors, sales, customer relationships, project coordination, operations or business ownership. It may also suit couples or business partners with complementary skills, where one person leads client engagement, sales and local networking while the other focuses on operations, delivery or design coordination.

Franchisees benefit from the strength of an established national brand, national marketing support, supplier relationships, business systems, training and ongoing operational support. Kitchen Studio is also rolling out a refreshed brand identity, updated showrooms, a sharper website and refreshed marketing collateral, giving new franchisees the benefit of joining at a point of renewed national momentum.

Available territories include Invercargill, Wanaka, Queenstown, South Canterbury, Blenheim, Upper Hutt, Wellington North / Kapiti Coast, Whanganui, Masterton, Gisborne, Napier, Coromandel, Taupo, Rotorua and Whangarei.

Each territory provides the opportunity to establish a local showroom presence and become the trusted Kitchen Studio operator in that market. The business rewards people who enjoy working with homeowners, understanding their needs, and turning design ideas into practical, high-quality results.

For the right franchise partner, this is a chance to establish a meaningful local business in a category with strong emotional, practical and lifestyle appeal. Kitchens sit at the heart of the home, and customers value expert guidance, quality design and a process they can trust.

This is not a passive investment. The opportunity is best suited to a hands-on operator who wants to be visible in the local market, develop strong referral relationships, lead a team and build a reputation for quality service and design outcomes.

New Kitchen Studio territories do not become available often. For those ready to step into business ownership, or expand their existing commercial experience into a premium design-led category, this is an opportunity worth exploring.
