Established Software Consultancy | Recurring Revenue | FY26 ODI $282K

Acquire a well-established New Zealand software consultancy with more than 20 years of proven trading, a highly experienced development team, and over $128,000 in annual recurring revenue for FY26 from hosting, support agreements and domain management. With FY2026 Owner's Discretionary Income of approximately $282,000, this business combines predictable cashflow with the upside of project-based software development.

Providing bespoke software development, API integrations, process automation, website design and development and digital consulting, the business has built long-term relationships with clients across a diverse range of industries. Many customers continue to engage the business for ongoing enhancements, support and additional development work, creating a loyal client base and consistent repeat business.

The operation is supported by documented systems, established workflows, and an experienced team of developers, reducing reliance on the owner and providing a smooth transition for new ownership. Significant growth opportunities exist through managed services, AI solutions, cybersecurity offerings, expanded marketing initiatives and further geographic expansion.

This business would suit an existing software company, web design or digital agency, IT services provider, managed services business, or an experienced software professional looking to acquire a profitable and scalable technology business.

Asking Price: $599,000
