Engineering Business for Sale Taranaki

Earn c$240k+ Running Your Own Engineering Business

Are you an experienced engineer, looking to become your own boss and earn c$240,000+, while still being involved on the tools? This opportunity could be for you.

This long-standing business has many well developed client relationships within its local community. These include an ongoing role managing repairs, maintenance and plant shutdowns at a large factory complex.Key business strengths:

* Long established business and client base

* Broad range of services, from general light engineering to plant maintenance and repairs

* Ongoing relationship with major client produces c50%-55% of revenue

* This relationship dates back around 35 years

* Good levels of future work in the pipeline

* Can be run by a single working owner with good hands-on engineering skills

* Single location, predominantly Monday to Friday operation

* Only 6-7 employees, including part-time/casual staff

* Experienced and trained staff with industry qualifications and accreditations

* Well equipped workshop with all required plant, vehicles and tools

* Prompt and reliable customer payments

* All purchases are local, with no importing

* Fundamentally simple business model

The current owner works around two to three days a week on the tools. The new owner can either reduce this commitment by adding a further employee, or continue the hands-on role themself.

The turnover and profit figures are projections for the year to 31 March 2027.
