Safety Products Manufacturing Business for Sale Waikato

Very Profitable Safety Products Manufacturer

Decades of specialist know-how and a team already running production make this established Waikatomanufacturerone a new owner can step into at a strategic and operatinglevel from day one.

Now for sale, it serves a principally business-to-business (B2B) customer base across multiple industries in New Zealand-including construction, transportation, and agriculture. There is an extensive standard product range alongside custom manufacturing with multiple in-house production systems allied to the printing or sign production industries.

Established distributor networks feed new and existing revenue, and an online ordering portal serves smaller business clients directly. Manufacturing, warehousing, retail and administration operate from a single site.

Business highlights:

* Managed with an onsite Business Manager currently (but who is looking to retire) and small full-time team running production, customer service, warehousing and administration

* Locally manufactured flagship product line, with the specialist tooling included in the sale

* Complementary product range held under a distribution arrangement

* Practical hurdles for any new entrant seeking to replicate the business

* Raw materials mostly sourced locally, with alternative supply lines for every raw material

It suits an owner who wouldwork alongside the team but have an opportunity to grow the business. Strategic industry buyers may also see the fit. Growth avenues a new owner could pursue include increased marketing, expanded product lines and added sales resource.
